Sportsmanship: At an Idaway youth wrestling tournament, sportsmanship takes center stage as young athletes display resilience, respect, and camaraderie. Whether celebrating a victory or grappling with a defeat, these budding competitors learn the value of fair play and graciousness. Coaches and parents alike foster an environment where handshakes symbolize more than just the end of a match—they signify mutual admiration and the shared journey of growth. In this arena, winning is commendable, but the true triumph lies in the character forged through the trials of the wrestling mat. Unsportsmanlike issues will not be tolerated and will be removed from the tournament whether it's a wrestler, coach, or parent. —Thank you, Idaway Officers
